

DUTCH FOR ALLIES IF THEY ENTER WAR

Netherlands Seeks To Avoid Hostilities But Dreads Mitteleuropa Idea

If Holland were forced to enter the war because of being caught in a maw from which there was no other escape than to join one of the sets of belligerents, she would come out on the side of England—meaning the Allies—believes A. Weijers, sugar planter of Java who is a passenger on the Dutch steamer Grotius, in port last night.

This answer from the Hollander, who is returning to Java after a residence of two years in his native country, was gained after some reluctance had been shown in making a direct reply, but the reluctance was evidently due to a desire to not appear unneutral rather than to lack of conviction regarding his opinion.

Mitteleuropa Dread

What Holland would do in case Germany were able to carry out her Mitteleuropa plans, by gaining strong domination of Russia, then Finland and eventually forcing Sweden and Norway to come out as her allies was what was asked the Dutch business man.

With some care he showed how Holland would then be caught in a pinch or shaped jam with the armies of the Central Powers on two sides, the Allies on another border, and no free border except on that part washed by the North Sea.

"Holland does not want war. We want to be neutral and we have tried very hard to be neutral. Why should we want war when the big guns of either Germany or England can shoot half across Holland," he said thoughtfully.

"But suppose Holland was eventually caught, as some of the world thinks Greece was, and forced to declare herself on one side or the other, what would she do?"

Only One Course

"Ah, that poor country! If such should happen she would come out on the side of England. She would have to. She could not do anything else," he replied, as if he had pondered long upon this same subject but with the attitude of a patriot from a little country which had seen much of war and dreaded to see his own involved.

Weijers says that Holland has been very short of food since America entered the war, but that the food conditions were improving when he left there six weeks ago. A companion declared that at times in Amsterdam bread had to live on a small piece of bread and three small potatoes a day. This Weijers laughed at saying it was the imagination of an always hungry man who had found conditions to be as bad as represented.

As an example of high prices in Holland, Weijers pointed to his shoes and said they cost twenty-five guilders, or about ten dollars, in that country. The same shoes he declared could be bought in New York for five dollars.

Grows More Reticent

When Weijers was questioned about the instrument camps in Holland and the escaping of prisoners from Germany he showed more reticence than when asked about Holland's stand if she was forced into the war.

Every time the word "escaped" was used, in phrasing a question about Allied prisoners escaping from Germany he failed to understand the interrogations, constantly emphasizing that if soldiers either those of Germany or the Allies reached Holland they "never escaped" from there. He persisted in misunderstanding such a question, due to his knowledge of English and accepted such a one, as reflecting on the question of how Holland was maintaining her neutrality.

But of the Germans deserting from the Teuton ranks and fleeing to Holland to escape from the war, he spoke freely.

"The German deserters are coming all the time. Oh yes, we have a guard on the borders, but what can we do. They come with their hands in the air and cross the line before they can be stopped. We cannot shoot unarmed men seeking safety, although if they are seen before they cross the line they are turned back."

WASHINGTON GRID COACH TO TEACH AGRICULTURE

FULLMAN, Washington, February 25.—(Associated Press)—Clarence Zimmerman, captain of the 1917 Washington State College football team, has accepted a position as an instructor in agriculture at the Ellensburg high school at Ellensburg, Washington. He also will have charge of athletics and coach the high school football team. Zimmerman played on the college team for four years, at guard the first year and end the last three. He was selected for the All-Coast Team last year and was chosen for the All-Northwest Team two years.

Trouble For Delinquents May Be Avoided Through Their Friends

About one hundred and twenty-five draft registrants of the Fourth District, or selective draft division No. 1, have failed to respond to the federal law and are now delinquents. The questionnaires were mailed to them at the addresses they gave at the registration in July last year, but have been unclaimed and the postoffice has returned them to the board.

Clarence H. Cooke, chairman of Local Board No. 1, has issued the list of delinquents with their last known address, and hopes that friends of those enumerated who know their present address, will hand same in to the board in order to save the registrant trouble which will come through the department of justice. Punishment awaits those who are delinquent and become classified as slackers or deserters. The list is as follows:

PRINCESS DEPARTS; FRIENDS SAY ALOHA

Scene At Pensacola Street Home Night Before Departure Reminiscent of Old Days

Princess David Kawanakoa was a passenger in the liner Maono yesterday for San Francisco, where after remaining two days she will proceed direct to New York to meet her young son, Kalakaua.

As a mark of honor the Hawaiian band under the leadership of Bandmaster Baker, played a number of Hawaiian melodies known to be favorites with the Princess and also sang two special numbers, one dedicated to the late Prince David Kawanakoa, the Princess making her acknowledgements from her stateroom window.

On Friday evening a large number of Hawaiian and haole friends gathered at the Princess' Pensacola Street home, where they sang and otherwise entertained the Princess until long after midnight. Three Hawaiian singing clubs were present, including the Lei Mamoe society. Late in the evening a number of white haired Hawaiian ladies, who were prominent during the monarchy days, particularly during the early period of the Kalakaua regime, sang songs popular thirty and forty years ago, a diversion which recalled to most of them the golden days of crown and scepter.

On Thursday Princess Kawanakoa was elected regent of the Hale-o-nalu, a strong Hawaiian women's society, making the third in which she had been elevated to high honors during the past week.

Princess Kawanakoa plans to return here in June accompanied by her three children, Kapulani, Liliuokalani and Kalakaua.

HILO TENNIS FANS SEE GOOD MATCHES

Mainland Players and A. L. Castle Delight Big Islanders In Court Work

A. L. Castle and George Williford defeated Roland Roberts and Horace Johnson, 3-6, 6-4, 6-5.

Claude Wayne and Nat Browne defeated Eugene Horner and Dr. L. L. Sexton, 6-0, 6-0.

A. L. Castle and Roland Roberts defeated Nat Browne and Claude Wayne, 7-5, only one set played.

Roland Roberts defeated A. L. Castle, 6-4, only one set played.

Hilo and the Big Island had a chance on Thursday afternoon of last week to see real tennis, for Nat Browne, Claude Wayne and Roland Roberts, the California stars and Pacific Coast champions, and A. L. Castle were seen in exhibition matches between themselves and mixed with Big Island players.

The following account of the matches is from last Friday morning's Hilo Tribune:

"There was not a very large crowd at the tennis matches yesterday afternoon, but the fans who were there were enthusiastic about the class of game put up by the three mainland stars and the local players, to say nothing of the well known racket wielder, A. L. Castle, who accompanied the party from Honolulu.

"Wayne, Roberts and Browne showed excellent form on the courts and some of the shots pulled off by them were spectacular. The matches were exhibition ones and, by different combinations of teams, the spectators were treated to a good show of tennis.

"In the first match Roberts and Horace Johnson went against George Williford and Castle. The first set was won by Roberts and his partner, 6-3. The second one was won by Castle and Williford, 6-4, and they also took the third set by 6-0. The advantage set was not played on time was limited.

"The second match was played between Wayne and Browne, and Horner and Sexton, and it only needed two sets to end it, as the mainlanders defeated the Hilo pair 6-0, 6-0.

"The third match was between Castle and Roberts who played Wayne and Browne. There was only one set and it was the best exhibition of the afternoon. Castle and Roberts won the contest 7-5, and there was considerable rejoicing among the local fans who felt that Castle was an Island man and, therefore, a Hilo player.

"To wind up the afternoon's sport, a one-set singles match was played between Castle and Roberts. The visiting mainlanders won by a score of 6-4. This finished the tournament and the visitors got ready for their trip to the Volcano.

"It was plainly seen that the mainlanders did not exert themselves yesterday afternoon, although at times they all showed flashes of championship form. Wayne and Roberts' smashing work was excellent and Browne played some wonderful backhand strokes. Castle warmed up to his work after a few games and played as hard as he always does. He brought off some fine strokes during the sets he played in. George Williford also showed flashes of good tennis, as did Horace Johnson, Eugene Horner and Dr. L. L. Sexton. The quartet did all that was expected of them and that was to give the visitors an opportunity of showing their skill to the local people."

Following their trip to the Volcano of Kilauea, which was at its best on Thursday night, the visitors left in the Mauna Kea on Friday morning for Lahaina, Maui. From Honolulu, on Friday is the Claudine, there went to Maui Mrs. Renton Hind, Mrs. M. M. Graham, Miss Ruth Anderson, Miss Maile Vicens and William N. Eklund. All the visitors played yesterday in the big Puunene tournament, which was followed in the evening by a great water carnival.

CAMP LEWIS PAPER OPPOSES LEAGUE BALL

TACOMA, Washington, February 25.—(Associated Press)—The proposal made by the officials of the new Pacific Coast International Baseball League, formerly the Northwestern League, that its clubs play regular games in the Camp Lewis entertainment does not find great favor with "Over the Top," the camp newspaper.

The paper sets forth that the camp is rich in baseball material so that teams the equal if not the superior of the league teams can be organized among them. Inter-regimental competition, it is claimed, will provoke much more interest and spontaneous enthusiasm than would be the case in watching professionals at play for the money to be gained.

SPORTS

DEMPEY VICTOR OVER JIM FLYNN

California Gets Sweet Revenge Over Fireman For Unfair Treatment

CHICAGO, February 14.—Jack Dempsey knocked out Jim Flynn in less than the first two minutes of what was scheduled as a ten-round bout at Fort Sheridan tonight. Both fighters are heavyweights.

Dempsey forced the fighting from the start, a series of left and right blows to the head driving his opponent into the ropes. The knockout came exactly one minute and ten seconds for the match began when Dempsey landed a terrific left hook to the jaw which knocked the veteran clear through the ropes and into the crowd.

Dempsey, the victor in tonight's battle, was knocked out by Flynn in the first round of a bout at Salt Lake a year ago.

Willard, heavyweight champion of the world, has announced that he is ready to meet the winner of a bout between Dempsey and Fred Fulton in a fight for the championship.

The victory of Flynn over Dempsey at Salt Lake, referred to above, was achieved through a trick which did much to lose for Flynn what popularity he ever possessed. At the lap of the gong for the opening of the first round Dempsey advanced with extended hands for the usual handshake. Flynn was set to receive him and landed a terrific blow on the unprotected jaw of his opponent, ending the fight before it really had begun.

This unsportsmanlike act sounded the death knell of boxing in Utah.

J. L. SULLIVAN EARNED $1,026,400 IN RING

His Money, However, Was Frittered Away Extravagantly

Since the death of that grand old warrior, John L. Sullivan, numerous arguments have come up as to what the greatest of all champions earned in the ring. Some people have been led to believe he made close to $2,000,000, but figures which he vouches for himself show that his earnings were a little more than half that much.

WATCH HAROLD MAQUIRE

Word comes from Kamehameha School that Harold Maquire the other day made the 220-yard hurdle distance in 27.25 seconds. Since the Hawaiian Interscholastic record is 27 flat it looks as if Maquire is in for a breaker in this month's track meet.

WOMEN GOLFERS NEAR END OF TOURNAMENT

BELLAIR HEIGHTS, Florida, February 14.—Miss Helen Morrison of Pittsburgh defeated Miss Ruth Dugan of Chicago in the semi-finals round of the women's annual February tournament by one up. Mrs. Frank Jones of Memphis played a very steady game against Mrs. J. Duryea of Springfield and won by 3 and 2.

JACK DEMPEY SIGNS WITH "KID" NORFOLK

BUFFALO, New York, February 18.—Jack Dempsey of Salt Lake City, the best claimant for a fight with Jess Willard, has been signed to meet Kid Norfolk, the colored battler of the South. The bout will be a twelve-round affair and is scheduled for Monday, March 4.

CELEBRATED AUSTRALIAN WOMAN SWIMMING CHAMPION PASSING THROUGH HERE IN MAY

While Fanny Durack, the world's greatest woman swimmer and aquatic title holder, will pass through Honolulu the later part of May on her way for an extended engagement in the mainland, it will not be until probably in September, on her way back to Australia, that she will be seen in the swims in Honolulu.

A recent Coast paper prints the following about the great Fanny:

Definite word was received by William Umack yesterday afternoon that Miss Fannie Durack, world swimming record holder, will arrive in San Francisco on June 3. On June 6 and 7 she will make her first public appearance at Stanford University, where she will give exhibitions. Sacramento will be on the tour to witness the swimming of the world's champion. She will swim there on June 21. From there she goes to Stockton.

San Francisco swimming fans will be given their first chance to see Miss Durack on July 18. Efforts will be made by Umack to bring an Eastern swimmer, probably Miss Olga Dorfner, to San Francisco to compete in a 500-yard swim against Miss Durack, Miss Frances Cowles, Miss Dorothy Burns and probably Miss Claire Galligan, who was recently defeated by Thelma Darby in a 500-yard swim at Indianapolis.

Much Talent In Party

Miss Durack will in all probability bring with her Mrs. Mary Chambers, secretary of the Australian Women's Amateur Swimming Association, to act in the capacity of manager and chap erone.

Minna Wylie, who was expected to accompany the swimmer on her tour will be unable to come. Mrs. Hugh Melanck, wife of the Australian newspaper man, is making final preparations for Miss Durack's departure.

The dates and places where Miss Durack will appear follow:

June 3, she arrives.

June 6 and 7, Stanford University.

June 21, Sacramento.

June 22, Stockton.

June 23, San Jose.
